'1867809643101098165'	RT @2waytvapp: Kamala Harris “was never ahead. But during the campaign, they were singing a different tune,” says top Democratic fundraiser Lindy Li about the Harris campaign. “They told us she had a good chance, that we were going to win three to four battleground states. '1810807084029538804'	But in her own interview with the BBC, a major Democratic fundraiser insisted that the president was still the man to take on Trump in November's election. Mr Biden gave a "bad" performance in the debate, Lindy Li acknowledged, but he had "resuscitated our standing as an international leader and a superpower". In her comments to BBC Radio 4's Today programme, Ms Li admitted that Mr Biden had a poor debate showing, but suggested that the president's "haemorrhaging" of support had stopped, and he was ready to attack Trump over his legal woes. She had recently been in a meeting with Mr Biden in which "he actually looked pretty phenomenal," she said. https://t.co/BkV0ErAfCT	7/9/2024 18:43
